MEDICAL PANEL RECOMMENDED FOLLOW-UP

The C-8 Medical Panel has recommended that you should schedule an appointment with your personal physician or with a participating health care provider if you have any new or worrisome symptoms that could be related to ulcerative colitis, testicular cancer, or kidney cancer. You will need to complete registration with the C-8 (PFOA) Medical Monitoring Program to verify eligibility if you have not previously registered. Research has shown that exposure to PFOA increases the incidence of the following diseases:

1. Ulcerative Colitis
    i. Diarrhea (with or without blood) that lasts more than 10 days.
    ii. Waking up at night to move your bowels.
    iii. For more than half of your stools over a 6 week period you feel an urgent need to have a bowel movement and might not get to the bathroom in time.
2. Testicular Cancer
    i. Testicular abnormality such as pain, fullness, mass, stone or change in size.
    ii. Gynecomastia (male breast enlargement).
3. Kidney Cancer
    i. Blood in your urine.
    ii. Pain in your abdomen on most days in the last two months.
    iii. A fever on most days for the past two weeks.
    iv. Recent loss of weight without trying.
